Doublets when Mr. Noah Webster compiled his well known and justly celebrated Unabridged he believed that he had gathered together all the adjectives which ever would be needed in the expression of human emotions. The famous author of the half a dozen or so best sellers wrote accordingly to his lights, but he wrote in the days, or nights, of kerosene lamps.

Along came Mr. P. T. Barnum with a collection of superlatives of which Mr. Webster had never dreamed. And more recently, came Mr. Ringling with a bunch of descriptive terms which sent Mr. Barnum's careering in a dizzy stage.

These distinguished gentlemen were past masters in the art of word juggling, and it must be admitted that they bulled well, but none of them had any means of knowing about this Sun Tobacco Fund or they would not have stopped where they did.

What this particular chronicler wishes to say is that he feels the lack of words with which to describe adequately the popular enthusiasm, the depth of patriotic fervor which has made it possible for the fund to reach its present scorching position in point of figures. Mr. Barnum managed to evolve a few new superlatives, but he is going to save these for the glad day in the very near future when the $100,000 will be in his hands. After that yet others must be invented, for it won't be so very long before $100,000 will look mighty small.

Up! Up! Up! It Goes.

So, with the availability of conserving adjectives apparent, it will have to suffice now to remark that this Sun Tobacco Fund is above $300,000 this morning and that it is travelling at a rate that defies all speed laws. And it is inspiring to witness it grow.

At the moment the American Junior Naval and Marine Scouts monopolize the centre of the stage, and deservedly. You meet these energetic youngsters in their fifty sailor suits and their red and white uniforms, and you are struck by the thousands of them. They are the Scouts, they are selling copies of their new song "For Old Glory," and they are singing it with a fervor which is well worth having, because the Scouts make an appeal that is irresistible and because the proceeds mean smiles for the fellow who is in need.

When the final roll of husters is made up the name of Lancelotti de Costa, 12 years old, of the First Naval Battalion, is going to be within a hair's breadth of the top. Lancelotti—the other kids call him "Lancelotti"—sold his hundredth copy only in the week and was awarded a medal, but he didn't mind. He went on selling as if there were a million songs to dispose of and space on his blouse for a thousand medals. He refused to take "No" for an answer. He has a habit of calling "Slacker" when a man refuses to buy, whereas the number of refusals hush the low water mark. He is rated first "slacker" in the records of the American Junior Naval and Marine Scouts and in the records of the Sun Tobacco Fund. He comes honestly by his patriotism, for his father is a sergeant in the 101st Infantry Regiment, N. G. N. Y. When any one inquires why a soldier should want to make Lancelotti replies: "Ask dad—he knows."

Song Sells Rapidly.

Howard Jones and John Klett, also of the First Naval Battalion, invaded the restaurant of the Hotel Ritz-Carlton at the luncheon hour yesterday and did a fine office business with their songs. Through the courtesy of Theodore Tetzy, the restaurant manager, the orchestra played "For Old Glory." That was all that was necessary. The purchases came rapidly.

Last night Col. Irving took several of the boys to Archambault's, Cavalry Terrace, and the Camp and the directors permitted Scout Walter McDuffy to dance and Scout Jimmy Kane to sing. Result: Many sales. Another force accepted an invitation to invade Pier 22, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and gathered a half of shovels in exchange for songs. To-day Capt. Percival will take twelve Naval Scouts to the Red Cross bazaar at the Hotel Ritz-Carlton. Major Ronald MacGregor with six will work among the race fans at the Aqueduct track.

These names were added to the list of medal winners yesterday: Dominick Engler, Marconi Marine Battalion; Herbert Foreman, First Naval Battalion; Morris Dropper, Alexander Battalion; and Saul Specter, Second Naval Battalion. Commissioner Romeo Peretti, who is a teacher in Public School 71, predicts that he will have ten medals in his command, the Marconi Marine Battalion. He is working hard to establish a record. These medals will be presented by the principal of the school next week.

Parade Helps in Drive.

Major J. W. C. Smythe of Alexander Battalion sent George Smith, quartermaster sergeant, to national headquarters for more songs yesterday afternoon.

Slow Train Service Makes
Stage Stars Late for Evening Performances.

The American Red Cross hired nearly every last night in a frantic effort to make up to the artists who took part in the pageant at the Rosemary Open Air Theatre yesterday afternoon for the slowness of the Long Island trains. Most of the players in Long Island, famous and otherwise, appeared on one or other of the episodes on condition that they should be landed here in time for their evening performances. The Red Cross did its part, but the stage production was delayed for an hour and a half by the slow train service. The train was late for the special train that had been promised them at 6.

At 6:15 the train arrived at the station and the actors and actresses cooled their heels and warmed their tempers on the platform and several hundred guests mourned their belated dinner. Most of them having gone down on the 11 A. M. train, which landed at 10:15, and the train which was late for the special train that had been promised them at 6.
